THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY celebration of the modern Harris School in Madison included a singing program last week by several of the classes at the school. A highlight of the celebration was the portrayal of the Statue of Liberty by second-grader Danielle Hicks. After the program, Principal David Becherer cut a cake which was made as a replica of the school at Seventh Street and Alton Avenue.

For a Taste of Italy, Quad-Citians don't have to travel far. Thanks to Franco Cupini, owner of a new Granite City business, authentic Italian pasta, cheeses, meats and breads are just around the corner.

Cupini, 42, a native of Rome, operates a combination store and carry-out restaurant.

"I'M GOING TO DO great things for Granite City," he said. "Once people try my products, they're going to catch on."

Cupini has room to be confident. When he was 13, he enrolled in the ENLAC Hotel cooking school in Rome.

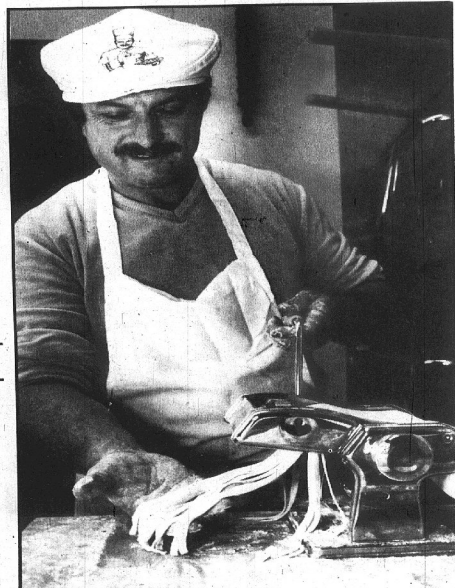

"They taught you how to cook and, in exchange, you cooked at the hotel for free," Cupini said. "The hotel was a government institute and they provided your basic schooling and room and board."

Later, Cupini was selected as one of four chefs on the staff for the President Giovanni Leone at the Villa Madama in Rome.

AT AGE 22, he came to the United States to help his brother run a St. Louis restaurant.

"My father told me to go help my brother," he said. "He asked me to leave an easy job—I only had to work two or three hours a day for the president."

Cupini worked for his brother for eight years and then became a wine distributor.

Light shed on Venice street

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — The brilliant lights of Broadway soon will not apply only to the New York theater district. The main thoroughfare in Venice will get its own revamped, brighter lighting. "We are planning quite a bit of work in Venice in the next six months, including the lighting along Broadway," Bill Badger, Illinois Power Co. engineering supervisor, informed the Venice City Council Nov. 28.

THE UTILITY FIRM will be replacing "bad poles and lines" and circuits as part of the overall upgrading of street lighting in the community, Badger said.

"Gas crews also will be working in the Venice Homes housing area and then move up to Lee Wright Homes to do some work there," he related. Primary replacement of lighting fixtures and general maintenance work along Broadway will extend between the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 Home west to the Broadway traffic underpass, near the traffic artery's linkup with Illinois Route 3.

WHILE THE PROJECT is under way, Badger suggested, the city also might wish to replace the intensity of the present 33-light system on Broadway with 23,000-lumen, high-pressure sodium lights. The City Council agreed.

"These will give you about 35 percent more light. Under the city's franchise agreement, it will cost about 65 cents per light or $20 a month more," he explained. The present lights on Broadway are 17,000-lumen mercury vapor luminaires.

"WE ARE LOCKED into the rate structure by Congress, and under your (city) franchise we will replace every other light (free)," he added.

The utility also would prefer to get rid of all incandescent street lights now serving the other streets in Venice, Badger said. In place of them, Illinois Power recommends using mercury vapor lights, while favoring sodium lights for Broadway, he added.

Noting it was up to the aldermen to decide whether to upgrade Broadway lighting, Mayor Tyrone Echols said the proposed area will "take in schools, as well as the park area."

AFTER APPROVAL was voted, Badger said the new lights will be ordered. The replacement project, plus other work, will take about 2½ months, he estimated.

At some point during the project, the engineer said, there may be a need to block vehicle traffic in the vicinity of Klein Street and Broadway. Permission for this phase of the work was given.

Village seeking to hire police officer

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Another police officer will be hired by the village, it was decided by the Village Board of Trustees Tuesday.

Applications for the police officer's position will be taken at the village hall, 3910 Highway 111, until Dec. 5.

Qualified candidates must be U.S. citizens with a high school diploma or GED certificate, and the applicant must be willing to locate within the village limits within one year.

The decision to advertise for police officer applicants did not come without controversy Tuesday night.

Trustee Bob Vincent suggested the village change its ordinance which requires village employees to locate inside the village limits within a year of their hiring. Vincent recommended the village allow employees to live within a 20-mile radius of the village.

"The problem is, if we hire an employee, he is required to move into the village within one year," Trustee Don Rea said. "He must find suitable housing, and if he can't, he jeopardizes his employment."

"Sometimes it puts a hardship on people and us as far as hiring," Board President Glen Wilson added.

Village attorney Keith Jensen was instructed to prepare a new ordinance which would allow the board to change the residency requirement. The parameters of the requirement will be decided by the board later.

Following that decision, Trustee

Bob Abel made a motion that the village hire a police officer applicant who had been interviewed several weeks before.

"I think you're jumping the gun," Trustee Lou Whitsell said. "He lives outside the village limits. That's why you want to change the (residency requirement) ordinance."

"He's the only applicant because we go about this a little bit wrong—because we don't advertise to people in Pontoon Beach that we're hiring policemen," Rea said. "If we hire someone, I'd rather it be someone we know who is trainable and who we can send to the police academy. I'd like to advertise to the people of Pontoon Beach."

But Abel said he preferred to hire a policeman immediately, noting that the interviewed applicant already is qualified for the position.

If the village advertised the position, Police Chief Chet Bailew said, the first police academy class would be held in January. The class takes 10 weeks to complete, he said, meaning the officer could begin work after that.

"I agree with Don (Rea) as far as hiring," Wilson said. "The only thing is, we want to hire a policeman and this man is ready."

Bailew noted the police department receives applications from the same people "over and over again." The interviewed candidate is qualified, he said.

The board tabled the question and met in executive session to discuss the matter before deciding to advertise the position.

Chouteau asked to join economic group

By RACHEL NEWSOME

CHOUTEAU — Representatives from the Greater Alton Twin Rivers Economic Growth Association gave an outline of its activities to Chouteau Township trustees at a board meeting Nov. 25.

The association has invited the township to become a member. The group seeks to combine business, labor and governmental bodies to form a "more powerful voice" for its area.

"We think that by working together we can make a lot more happen in our communities," said Terry Kohler, an association director.

Chouteau's membership dues would amount to $875 annually. A decision on membership is pending further discussion by town board members.

In other business, Supervisor Morris Miles announced tax receipts amounting to $741 for the township and $1,563 for the Chouteau highway department.

Miles reported tentative plans for a meeting between the Madison County Transit District board, Walter "Shag" Greathouse, executive of the Metro East Sanitary District, and Miles.

The meeting concerns the township's concern over the possibility of additional drainage problems for Mitchell residents due to a proposed industrial park at Illinois Route 111 and Interstate 270.

"The county has assured me that drainage plans have been included in the proposal," Miles said.

The board's next meeting is Dec. 9.

Get ready for those winter storms

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

In preparation for severe winter weather, Gov. James R. Thompson has proclaimed the week of Dec. 1-7 as Winter Storm Preparedness Week to encourage Illinoisans to take reasonable precautions.

Further emphasis is being placed on preparedness by Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse, who signed a proclamation today also urging local citizens to prepare for the 1985-86 winter season.

"FEW OF US realize that winter storms cause more damage and disruption in the state than any other form of short-term severe weather event, including tornadoes, lightning and hail," Thompson said.

"Besides creating hazardous traveling conditions, severe winter storms interrupt vital services such as medical, fire, police, mail, power and communications," the governor added.

Overall, the state experienced five severe winter storms last year, normal for an Illinois winter but quiet compared to the previous winter's total of 12.

A SEVERE WINTER storm is defined as one that results in six or more inches of snow in 48 hours or less somewhere in the state, or one that produces damaging ice or glaze over at least 5,000 square miles.

A storm with less snow or ice, but with high winds or extreme cold, can also be classified as severe if it produces deaths or significant damage.

"Last year, the northern sections of the state received the most severe winter weather," Thompson said.

"The biggest snowstorm of 1984-85 occurred during the New Year's Eve holidays. Antisch received 21 inches of snow. Six to 10 inches fell from LaHarpe in western Illinois to the northern Chicago suburbs."

"THE HOLIDAY SEASON is a period of increased travel and high probability for severe winter weather," says the proclamation issued by Mayor Cruse.

The Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency and numerous other city and private agencies are attempting to inform and educate the public on protective measures that should be taken to prepare for the 1985-86 winter season," it continues.

"By taking reasonable precautions, residents of Granite City can reduce loss of life and property, plus decrease the adverse effects of winter on our energy resources and our economy," Cruse said.

INFORMATION on how to prepare for winter may be obtained by calling the Granite City ESDA office at 277-3157.

Tips on winter survival, including how to make a home self-sufficient, precautions to take when traveling, health hazards and keeping posted on weather conditions, also will appear in subsequent issues of the Press-Record/Journal newspapers.

Peace, budget deficit, free parking issues

WASHINGTON — World peace and the budget deficit are matters of some concern to Congress, but as you may have gathered from recent reports out of Washington, the really important issue is free parking privileges at National Airport.

Rep. Phil Crane, R-Ill., got a few dozen colleagues to sign a petition to the Federal Aviation Agency, "suggesting" that it ban Supreme Court justices and diplomats from the free VIP parking lot close to the terminal so there would be more room for members of Congress. To the astonishment of bureaucracy-watchers, the FAA spunkily rejected the suggestion, and even stood up to Crane's none-too-subtle hints that he'd re-member the agency's imperminence come budget time.

The FAA professed its confidence that the congressman would surely not jeopardize the lives of air travelers by cutting the safety agency's budget over a matter of wounded pride. And there the matter rests — for now.

But it's clear something will have to be resolved about Congress and airport parking. The case of Rep. Mel Levine, D-Calif., and his wife, Jan, shows why.

The Levines spent a month on the West coast, leaving their station wagon in a congressional parking place at Washington's Dulles Airport. When they returned, the wagon had accumulated a parking bill of $600. If the congressman had driven the car out of the lot, there'd have been no problem.

But he had called his secretary to meet them with the Levines' other car, which he then drove out just ahead of the station wagon, driven by Mrs. Levine and bearing the $600 tab. The lot attendant let the congressman out without charging him for the few minutes the second car had been there. But she insisted that Mrs. Levine pay the $600 for the station wagon.

"She was extremely abusive to my wife," Levine told our associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg. Not so, according to Mrs. Levine, a friend and a colleague. The congressman "said he writes the budget for the FAA and that he was going to raise hell," they wrote in a report to the agency.

Levine, who doesn't sit on any committee with jurisdiction over the FAA, said the employee's version is

Jack Anderson

"simply not true," and explained: "It is not my style to operate in the way this lady claims."

Levine said he asked to see a supervisor. The employees claim that was their idea, and that Levine blew up at the suggestion and "made several more statements and threats about what he could do."

The parking lot supervisor and an FAA official say the attendants were legally correct, because the parking privilege is for members of Congress only, not spouses.

House Sergeant-at-Arms Jack Russ disagreed. "Spouses are allowed because of the nature of the job," he explained. "They are intertwined in a member's work."

CONTINUING CRISIS: Administration insiders are privately warning that the farm crisis will get worse before it gets better. Large grain harvests this year combined with rising foreign production, will create an international glut and keep prices for agricultural products depressed. Economic experts are predicting the worst wave of farm foreclosures since the Great Depression. Farm banks are already collapsing at an alarming rate. In the past 14 months, over half of the 100-plus banks that failed across the country were agricultural banks.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Much to the consternation of the banking industry and much to our delight — a House subcommittee has approved a bill that would require banks to make most check deposits available for use the day after deposit, instead of up to 10 days later. This time-differential, or "float," has been giving banks free use of billions of dollars a year. It has also earned them lucrative fees when the customer writes checks on perfectly good deposits that haven't been officially cleared. We think this is an outrageous burden on the consumer and it's high time the float was sunk.

Thanksgiving leftovers battle the diet

Thanksgiving 1985 is a memory, except for those persistent leftovers in the fridge waiting like the spirits of Thanksgiving past, calling my name over and over.

"Please," they tempt, "don't let us go to waste. What about the starving people taking aerobic dance classes?"

"Aerobic dance classes?" "They really want to take me by the leg," means a drumstick. "Do it for them."

I grab the paunch that's been sneaking up on me during the last few months and shake it. Though not enough to fool Rudolph as to my identity, there's a bit more jelly there than I like.

"I've done quite enough for the starving aerobics dancers," I admitted.

"Your poor wife slaved over a hot stove for hours to prepare me," groaned the whipped-cream-headed slice of pumpkin pie.

Columnists' club

Jack Ventimiglia

"Oh, c'mon now. Tricia bought you over at the bakery."

"That poor baker slaved over a hot..."

"Knock it off."

"Remember how you pushed me aside and went straight for the potatoes and gravy?" the dish of cranberries was almost weeping. "I was devastated. This is your opportunity to make it all up to me."

"No offense, but cranberries don't appeal to me."

The dish, already crimson, quivered in anger.

At that moment a gurgling sound came from the top shelf. A half quart of egg nog was speaking like another awful, seasonal television commercial.

"There's nothing like the thick, smooth flavor of egg nog to delight the taste buds and satisfy the tummy."

"To blot me, you mean?"

"Just a taste. A little taste. So sweet, so thick..."

"Yes, it's plenty thick in here. And there's no such thing as a little taste of egg nog. It's a sip, a gulp and then you're looking at the bottom of an empty carton."

"Would that be so bad?" Somehow, the gurgling seemed to take on a seductive sound.

"Spare me."

"Hey, boss, there's plenty of spare ribs down here." There, on the bottom shelf, a plate of pre-Thanksgiving ribs covered in rich, red, onion-sprinkled barbecue sauce called out. "We're dying of neglect."

I got a whiff. They were right. "I'm afraid I couldn't take the heartburn right now," I said, being diplomatic.

By this time my stomach was also beginning to talk to me. My conscience was crying out not to listen.

Suddenly, a chorus of peas, carrots and three-bean salad sang at the back of the fridge:

"Please let us be a friend and let your diet bend."

A simple bite or two is all we ask of you."

They repeated it over and over, sounding something like old Lawrence Welk programming. Only the bubbles were missing.

It was more than I could take. At that point I grabbed a lonely, quiet celery stick sitting unobtrusively in a back corner, chomped loudly down on it and, amid the cries of protest coming from the refrigerator, I slammed the door.

Sticking together will produce a better future for Venice

I can see a brighter future for Venice.

Venice is a good place to live. With unity, and the citizens working together, it can be one of the best little cities in the state of Illinois.

I believe things will get better in the future. We all can point fingers and accuse each other about what he or she is not doing. But have we thought about what we can do to improve the image of the city? We often find it is so easy to find fault, but we sometimes are too slow to help in solving problems.

We have one of the best mayors in the state. With his leadership, and the Council's, and the community with him, there will be a brighter future for the citizens of Venice.

Truly, Mayor Tyrone Echols tries his best to look out for the people of Venice.

The three local bodies of government should work closer together. That is, the City Council, the Park Board, and the School Board.

With these three local bodies coming together, just think how our city will go!

I can say, as president of the Venice Park District, we are working with both the city and the school district and we are proud of it. Venice is moving in the right direction.

We must commend the Crime Watch Program committee. Every citizen should look after each other's property and each other.

As small as our city is, we should people. Citizens, let's try a little harder and come a little closer to each other by cooperating with our mayor and councilmen.

We need business to come to our city. This will open up jobs for our citizens. The only way we are going to improve our city is by becoming concerned ourselves, and getting involved.

To our local ministers, I would say that the people need you to become more involved. Just preaching and going to church singing on Sunday mornings is not enough.

We ministers must work in the community and help our local citizens and local government. We must be part of the community.

The Bible says, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Yes, I am and you are.

Our same citizens are the ones that go to our churches and live in the same communities. They need help. They need jobs. They need housing. Ministers need to stay involved because city life affects us all.

More citizens need to come to the local meetings, such as the School Board, Park Board and City Council. These are the places where we need to voice our concerns, our pros and cons. Citizens, we are all somebody regardless of whether we hold an office title or not.

Two of the main problems that seem to be serious in our community are housing and jobs for our citizens. There is no enough housing for our citizens. This is one reason for some of our people having to leave our city.

Mayor Echols is right on top of these two great problems. In the future, we will be proud of our mayor and councilmen.

Citizens, you can be very sure that from the Venice Park Board's standpoint concerning the new waterline, any available jobs will go to you who live in Venice. That is a promise from the Park Board.

We as taxpayers should keep the jobs where we pay our taxes. There are many jobs that can be put here in our city.

Several improvements need to be made. But it will take the citizens to

Hunting at Long Lake illegal

To the Editor: There is a village ordinance in Pontoon Beach that does not allow the shooting of firearms within the city limits, which includes the area along Long Lake (Ordinance 280).

This letter is directed toward those persons who are disregarding the safety and rights of others around them when they disobey the law through the shooting of firearms.

We who live on Long Lake do not wish to have our safety jeopardized by those who disregard public safety and disobey the law by poaching or other illegal use of firearms.

The law applies to everyone — it does not allow you to shoot and kill the ducks, geese and other inhabitants that live there and are protected by the law. It does not allow you to shoot into the lake and cause possible harm through direct or ricocheting bullets.

If you have a question concerning the use of firearms — and this includes BB guns and air pistols — you can call the Pontoon Beach police station for verification and information.

If it's game you're after — and the thrill of the hunt — then please go where it's legal in season.

There can be no thrill, no sport in shooting these "wild" ducks that live around people and are entitled to your shore by a toss of a few pieces of bread for the slaughter.

Succinct writing essential to his position

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

Before our news stories, or your press releases, get into the newspaper, they must first pass the copy desk.

Our copy desk chief, Bill Winter, keeps watch on materials meant for publication. He seeks accuracy, fairness and reducing stories to bare bones.

Getting to the important part of a story sometimes means severe cutting. Surgery is sometimes painful. But our chief surgeon is little more lenient than the hatchet man presented in a spoof on the copy desk done by Editor & Publisher. It is presented here to provide a little more insight into the journalist's world.

Q. So you work as a copy reader?
A. Yes.

Q. What does your work involve?
A. Fix copy, write heads.

Q. Are you considered a sort of executive?
A. No. Aide.

Q. If things go well, how do you describe your day?
A. OK.

Q. And if they go badly, what emotion do you experience?
A. Ire.

Q. But, if you aren't quite so angry, what is your state of mind?
A. Irked.

Q. And if you're only slightly irritated?
A. Miffed.

Q. After work, when you drop into a bar to unwind, what do you do?
A. Parley.

Q. But, if you don't run into any of your friends to converse with at the bar, what do you do while you're having a drink?
A. Yes.

A. Muff.

Q. What is your marital status, sir?
A. Wed.

Q. And how would you describe your wife?
A. Top gal.

Q. Do you and your wife ever have any disagreements?
A. Tiffs? Sure.

Q. What do you do about your concerns?
A. Air them.

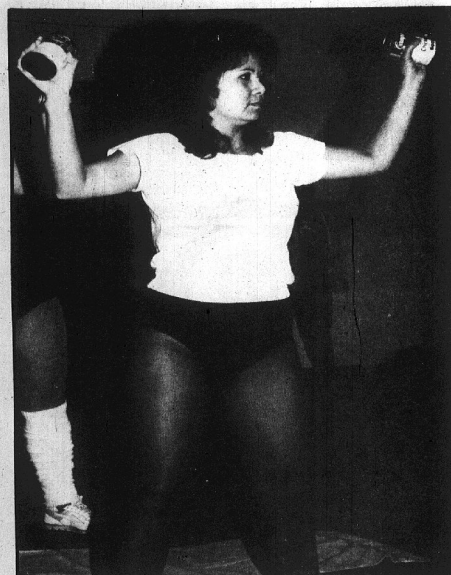

Q. Do you have any children?
A. One tot.

Q. Back to your work. What's the first thing you do on getting a piece of copy.
A. Eye it.

Q. Suppose you get a story so badly done that it seems hopeless?
A. Kill it.

Q. But, if it can be salvaged, what do you do to the reporter?
A. Bye.

Low-interest loans available

GRANITE CITY — State Rep. Sam Wolf is reminding all first-time, low-income home buyers they are eligible to receive low-interest mortgage loans under the new Build Illinois Low-Interest Mortgage Program.

Wolf said the state has made available up to $275 million to qualified home buyers through the Illinois Housing Development Authority.

"THIS IS THE BIGGEST home loan program ever offered by the state. Thirty-year, fixed-rate financing has been made available to first-time home buyers at an interest rate of 9.0 percent," Wolf said. "That is almost 3.5 percent lower than current fixed-rate mortgages."

"It is a long-held American dream to own a home. That dream has simply vanished over the past decade as interest rates soared and many families found that owning their own home was out of the question," Wolf added.

"We are trying to make those dreams a reality once again. Up to 6,000 mortgages will be financed for single-family homes under the new program, with 1,200 loans going toward financing of new home construction."

"AN IMPORTANT side effect of this project will be thousands of new jobs created all across the state by the spinoff that new housing projects will promote," Wolf said. He outlined the following guidelines for prospective applicants:

— Home buyers must not have owned a residence for the past three years.

— The annual household income is limited to $25,000.

— Applications must be made through participating lending institutions throughout Illinois.

— All funds will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis until Dec. 3.

— Price limits have been set at $77,220 for a new home and $56,760 for an existing home.

AREA LENDING institutions accepting applications for the low-interest mortgage program are:

First Granite City National Bank, Granite City.

Security Financial and Mortgage Corp., Collinsville.

Germania Federal Savings, O'Fallon and Alton.

Can't catch AIDS by donating blood

By BONITA GOWER
Staff writer

EAST ST. LOUIS — Despite a recent scare to the contrary, Red Cross blood donors cannot contract AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) from giving blood, a Red Cross employee said.

Philip Mondou, a compliance officer with the Red Cross, was at State Community College last week to clear up misconceptions about AIDS, its victims and the role of donated blood in the disease.

AIDS, a usually fatal disease, destroys the body's natural immune system so it is unable to fight infection and disease. In the U.S., 85 percent of the cases are found in homosexuals. Drug users and hemophiliacs (bleeders) make up a percentage of the rest of the cases.

The disease is generally transmitted through the transfer of body fluids (blood, semen), but whether it can be transmitted through tears and saliva still is being studied.

Although the disease was recognized in the U.S. in 1979, the scare and panic has spread across the country and carried with it many rumors. No cases of the disease have been reported in East St. Louis and surrounding areas, according to Lester Byrd of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

The scare is part of the reason the Red Cross had to make special appeals for blood about a month ago, Mondou said.

"A lot of people confused giving blood with getting AIDS and they didn't want to take a chance," he said. "But there's no risk to donors and only a slight risk to recipients."

At Red Cross stations, blood donors are injected with separate needles and transfer of AIDS from one donor to another is impossible in this fashion, said Mondou.

Needles used to draw blood are individually packaged prior to use and thrown away afterwards, he said. In addition, Mondou said persons requiring blood transfusions can rest a lot easier because the risk of contracting AIDS has been eliminated since new policies were initiated by the Red Cross.

Since March, every unit of blood donated to the agency has been tested for AIDS antibodies and all positive donations are discarded, he said.

The Red Cross initiated a program in January 1983 to screen donors more stringently so "high-risk people" could be eliminated from donating, Mondou added. People are now asked if they have had any homosexual contact, he said.

It appears we have been identifying everyone who tests positive, but we won't know for sure until 1990 (when the incubation period for the disease generally ends) that we are correct," he said.

Although about 25 of every 1,000 potential donors test positive for AIDS antibodies, Mondou said it doesn't necessarily mean that person has the disease or will have it — only that he has the virus.

A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

Now that the powerful lobbyists of the insurance industry have united with the medical profession to push through legislation severely limiting the rights of medical malpractice victims, those same lobbyists are uniting with manufacturers and other business people to push for so-called "reforms" in other areas. Their new targets are wide ranging, and include such things as comparative fault principles and the Illinois scaffold act, which protects workers from the terrible injuries which so often result from the use of unsafe scaffolds and other elevated structures. In the months ahead, these "reform" groups will be lobbying heavily in the legislature and through the media. While all of them will say that they have the average citizen's interest at heart, the attempt to destroy that same citizen's right to meaningful access to the courts, while coincidentally increasing the profits of insurance companies and other businesses, certainly seems a strange way of showing it.

We will be discussing this and other topics on Tuesday night's program.

How to do it

GC teacher among finalists

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff Writer

GRANITE CITY — When Dorina Knight became a finalist for Illinois Teacher of the Year this month, she became one of five local teachers ever in competition for that honor.

"She keeps things in perspective. 'People won't remember my name,' Knight said. 'They will remember that one of Granite City's teachers was nominated as Teacher of the Year. That's the most important thing.'"

Knight said she accepted her nomination only after weeks of deliberation.

To be nominated by the school district meant she had to prepare a book documenting why she felt she had made a positive change at her school, how she had contributed to the curriculum, student interest and learning environment, her leadership abilities and how she had "gone above and beyond the call of duty."

Also included in her book was a biography of accomplishments and experiences. She was nominated by her principal, Art Menendez. She had to have her book to the State Board of Education by June 16.

"I didn't have the time to prepare the book the way I would have liked," Knight said. "The nomination came in late February. I wasn't able to document a lot of the classroom activities we had done throughout the year."

Among the things she was able to document were her two-page weekly newsletter for Mitchell students and parents, and a monthly school bulletin board which included student birthdays, school events and historical trivia.

Knight was treasurer of the Mitchell School PTA, one of two elementary teachers serving on the curriculum committee for District 9 teachers, representative for kindergarten teachers on the language arts Curriculum Committee, a member of the district testing committee, and a member of the Granite City Teachers Federation.

She was one of two teacher representatives at the Madison County Teaching Institute. She plans monthly assemblies for Mitchell School and originated a parent volunteer program that performs non-secretarial tasks at the school.

Knight is a parent volunteer at her daughter's school in Edwardsville.

She is also a band parent while her son is a member of the Edwardsville Marching Band.

"My husband read my book and asked if I had really done all that," Knight said. "I told him I did. He said it was no wonder I never got the laundry done."

Knight began her career in 1964 at Nameoki School. She moved to Parkview in 1966 and spent the 1968 school year in Cook County.

She returned to Parkview in 1969, taught at Wilson in 1970, moved to Johnson in 1972 and then to Mitchell in 1983.

She has taught first and fourth grades as well as kindergarten in District 9 schools.

"The kids were thrilled to see my picture in the paper, but they really had no idea what it was all about," Knight said.

"They're in love with whoever is here. Life went on as if nothing had happened," Knight said.

She thinks there are plenty of teachers in Granite City who deserve the same recognition.

"The book I prepared didn't include much on daily classroom activity," Knight said. "What really matters is what goes on between 8:30 (a.m.) and 2:45 (p.m.). That's what makes a teacher."

Only two other teachers have been nominated for state recognition from District 9. They were Dot Bailey in 1981-82 and Ron Simpson in 1982-83.

Two administrators, Gary Proender, during the 1970s, and Rich Brinkhoff, 1982-83, were also nominated for state recognition, district officials said.

Hotline serving Illinoisans

The Illinois Health Care Cost Containment Council has installed a toll-free Health Care Hotline to provide Illinoisans with answers to general questions on health care costs and services.

The number, 1-800-325-9564, is in service Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"This new, free service not only provides consumers with information on health care costs but it also will help people understand how they can better select health care service and control their costs," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

The hotline provides cost comparisons of hospitals for various medical services and answers basic questions on other health care costs and services. It refers the caller to appropriate agencies, health departments, service organizations or other groups for more specific health-related information.

Other information available from the hotline includes:

• Help in locating sources for local physicians and hospital services.

• Cost comparisons for selected services in hospitals across the state.

• Where to get information on health insurance.

• Who to contact for assistance with Medicare and Medicaid problems.

• Available alternatives for specific medical/health services.

• What medical services are available from local public health and community health centers.

• Where to get local help and how to contact health agencies, associations, social service and self-help specific agencies; insurers; and HSAs (health systems agencies) for general information.

The Health Care Hotline, a service of the Cost Containment Council, is equipped to handle calls from the hearing impaired.

30 years in prison ordered on GC armed robbery plea

Robert E. Doepeke of Maryland Heights, Mo., was given a 30-year prison sentence after he pleaded guilty Oct. 4 to a Granite City armed robbery. Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman sentenced him Nov. 8.

Doepeke, 46, was charged March 11 in connection with a robbery attempt at Midtown Pharmacy, 2507 Johnson Road, March 8. The robber demanded cash and drugs from the store personnel and also fired a shot inside the store.

Doepeke held a woman hostage on the floor and then dragged her along with him as he moved from point to point in the store.

Officers communicated with the suspect through a window, using sign language, and several minutes later the man laid his weapon on top of a counter display. A .45-caliber automatic handgun and a clip containing six live bullets and one spent cartridge casing were recovered.

A shot was fired by police at a vehicle leaving the store parking area. The car was believed to have been driven by an accomplice of the robber. The vehicle, stolen from a nearby parking lot, was later found abandoned near Johnson Road and Terrace Lane.

Pair to serve probation

Brian J. Boswell and Bruce W. Woodall, both 18, must serve probation following guilty pleas in connection with an attempted burglary case at the Delmar Shoppe, 2301 Delmar Ave., Sept. 11.

Boswell, of Edwardsville, is to serve one year probation, six months in the county jail and pay $35 court costs, Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman ruled Nov. 4. Boswell pleaded guilty that day to a reduced charge of attempted theft.

Woodall, of 2917 Madison Ave., must serve two years probation and pay $95 in court costs following his guilty plea Nov. 4 to attempted burglary. Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill presided over his sentencing.

The two initially were charged with attempted burglary Sept. 16 after an investigation by Granite City police.

Venice

get involved. Crime Watch is one good example.

Let's keep criminals out of our city. Call the police and tell them when you see somebody taking things from a neighbor. You don't need to give your name; we have numbers, instead.

We should try harder to help beautify our city. First, we must clean up our own property. With fellowship and helping each other, our city could be the best. We make up our community.

I'll just close with this thought. To every citizen of Venice, ask yourself this question: "If every citizen was just like me, what would our city be?" You answer, to yourself.

May God bless all citizens of Venice and the entire world.

Mrs. Malottki was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Granite City and Eastern Star Chapter 650 and had been a member of Tri-City American Legion Auxiliary Unit 113 for 55 years.

Emergency plans
can save a life

Emergencies can happen to everyone - and they do. How we prepare in advance for them is the key to minimizing the personal or property damage in an emergency situation.

An emergency can be a time of personal devastation, or it can be an event handled in a positive and effective way so that life, limb and property are saved.

For a senior citizen, particularly one living alone, there are added problems that may arise due to a lack of communication, or the lack of arresting a medical problem promptly.

Following are 10 positive steps you can take to plan ahead for emergency situations. Study the list and then rate yourself on how many of these steps you already have in place - a score of nine or 10 means you are planning well; a score of four or below means you are setting yourself up to be an emergency victim.

Telephone Tree. Set up an arrangement with a group of friends or a senior citizen telephone to phone you at least once a day. They can be a lifesaving step, for if you do not answer the phone, and have not alerted the caller in advance that you'll be away, or she will come over or dispatch someone to your home to check on you.

Mailman Check. Arrange with your local post office to have your mail carrier check your mailbox each day - this is an "in place" program with the postal service. If your mail from the earlier delivery is still in the box, the mail carrier will knock on your door to inquire about your health. If there is no answer, he will phone his office. This program has been effective in saving countless lives where the senior citizen was ill or injured and could not reach the phone.

Neighborhood Watch. These programs were developed to deter criminals through the constant vigilance of a group of neighbors. The system works on request, too. When neighbors during their "watch" times will do a special check on senior citizens in their neighborhood.

Police Alert. When you're away, or even when you're in, you can call the local police department to take extra time when identifying by your house. This helps send out a message when you're away, and depending on the police department, can provide an extra check on your health and well-being.

Smoke Alarms. Install these units in bedrooms and in hallways. Test them at least once each week to assure that the batteries are operating. Plan various escape paths in the event of fire in different parts of the house or apartment complex.

Smoking. Confine all smoking to the house - to areas where you can control the ashes and discarded cigarettes. There is no smoking anywhere in bed or on sofas where you might curl up for a nap. When this type of fire starts you have virtually no escape from the flames or the heavy smoke from the burning.

Emergency Lists. Near every telephone, place cards with emergency numbers you might need, including your police department, fire department, paramedic service, hospital emergency ward, doctors, neighbors (very important, for they are nearest to you in an emergency) and a very good friend or relative. This list is for your use should you need it. Your local fire department will tell you if there is such a program in the community. The program consists of colorful stickers to apply to your door and on the refrigerator, and a form (which you complete and which contains your medical history, list of allergies, key medical contacts and more) that is kept in a safe in the refrigerator. The refrigerator is more protected against fire than furniture or other appliances. If your community does not have a "Vial of Life" program, ask local officials "why not?" Your local fire department will tell you if there is such a program in the community.

Security Check. Have the local police department do a security check of your home. The apartment, the refrigerator, and a window, locks and other devices to assure your protection from intruders. Most intruders and burglars enter through unlocked or poorly locked doors.

Fire Check. Have the local fire department do a fire safety check of your home or apartment. They will check electrical connections, and wiring where most fires start, and they can identify potential fire hazards before they happen. You might have to replace a few extension cords or a wall receptacle, but that is far better than having to replace your house. Many older fabrics are particularly flammable - and these, too, can be identified by your safety.

The list concerns ways to help save yourself by advance planning for a health emergency as well as ways to protect yourself and your property from potential and devastating emergency situations. How well do you score? Isn't it worth planning now to be a "10" - as if your life depended on it? Because it does.

Widow's benefits
start early as 60

Q: I married my present husband four months after his retirement. I am receiving Social Security payments on my own working record since the amount was slightly higher than one-half of his amount. Upon the death of my husband, am I entitled to receive his full Social Security amount? - E.M.P.

A: You would be entitled to his full unreduced amount at age 65 if he had never received reduced benefits. Widow's benefits can be paid as early as age 60. The amount payable at 60 is 71% of his basic amount.

Q: I receive Social Security benefits. I still working. I just received a form from Social Security asking for an updated estimate of my earnings. I thought that I only needed to give this information once a year. - D.J.

A: Anytime there is a change in your earning estimate it should be reported promptly. One of the major causes of overpayment is failure to report earnings exceeding the estimate.

In an endeavor to prevent such overpayments we are sending out mid-year requests for updated estimates of earnings.

Q: I am 66 and receiving Social Security. I have recently been appointed to a position with the County of Madison. Should I opt to work full time, can I withdraw from Social Security and reapply at a later date and again receive Social Security? Will my benefits be reduced because of this additional full-time work? - F.W.T.

A: The earnings limit in 1985 for people age 65 to 70 is $7,300. For each $2 over we will deduct $1. Social Security will automatically refigure your benefits after the additional earnings are credited to your record. The added earnings may result in higher benefits. In addition, there is a special credit that adds 3 percent to your benefit for each year after 65 that you don't get benefits because of work. It is necessary to withdraw and reapply.

Q: My husband has been totally disabled since 1978. My daughter, Susan March, She plans to go to college in the fall. Will her Social Security benefits continue?

A: Since your daughter has attained age 18 and has completed high school she is no longer entitled to student benefits. Student benefits are now paid only to full-time high school students under age 19. Previously, some college students under 22 did receive student benefits, but these payments were phased out.

Gospel group entertains AARP

Entertainment at a meeting of Granite City Chapter 1340, American Association of Retired Persons, was furnished by the Rev. and Mrs. Randol (Shirley) Mercer, their daughter, Mrs. Dawn Cherry, and her son, Jeffrey Cherry.

Three-year-old Jeffrey sang several songs and recited poetry. The family was accompanied at the piano by Vera Scott.

Nominations of officers for the year 1986 were announced and included: president, Juanita Crawley; vice-president, Harold Cain; secretary, Ceil Mance; and treasurer, Francis Bringer. Installation will be held at the January 1986 meeting.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Randol Mercer, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, Verdun, Ill., and brother of local President Bernice Mercer. Rev. Mercer was the guest speaker.

The president welcomed approximately 250 members, who recited the pledge of allegiance in unison.

Secretary Ceil Mance gave a report and Membership Chairman Marge Hall thanked Elizabeth McCoy and Marie Stanek for their assistance during the past two years.

Ann Miller, kitchen chairman for the past year, expressed appreciation to those who provided cakes for the AARP meetings.

Legislative Chairman Oscar Ash gave a report on the national debt and budget, and said the Medicare deductible will increase from $400 to $492 on Jan. 1. He also spoke on the primary election for Illinois state governor and other officials, noting that Attorney General Neil Hartigan will not run for governor.

Betty Applegate, Sunshine Committee chairman, said greeting cards were sent to Clara Ash, Anne Pare and Wilma Vavra, and sympathy cards to Mrs. Floyd Myers, Mrs. Irene Kadanec and the family of John Baker.

Program Chairman Juanita Crawley announced the Granite City Council of Seniors will hold a Christmas dinner dance Dec. 16 from 5:30 to 10 p.m. with an admission of $4.

New type of Social Security checks now

Social Security checks will have a new look on Dec. 3, Oliver Holmes, manager of the Social Security office in East St. Louis, said today.

The familiar green punched-card checks that Social Security beneficiaries have been receiving since 1940 will be replaced with a new, more counterfeit-resistant, more cost-effective paper check.

The U.S. Department of Treasury's Financial Management Service, the government's financial manager, began planning the paper check conversion project in the late 1970s because of new technology and the need to conform to generally accepted banking practices. Taxpayers will save $6 million per year in costs of paper stock and storage space.

The new check is more difficult to alter or counterfeit. More than a dozen security features — three times more than the old check — are contained in the design, the ink and the paper.

The design features a full-length reproduction of the Statue of Liberty on the left and a muted close-up of the Statue's head and torch on the right over a multicolored background ranging from light blue to pale peach. The letters "USA" create a background pattern on the front and back of the check.

Supplemental Security Income beneficiaries will continue to receive the gold-colored punched-card checks, Holmes said. The conversion process to new checks will not affect them until April 1, 1986.

Granite Citian senior forum officer

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Vernice Walter of Granite City has been named vice-governor in Region VIII of Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan's Senior Legislative Forum.

Walter had worked for 10 years with former Secretary of State Charles Carpenter. Currently, she is president of the Granite City Republican Women's Club.

She will serve Region VIII with Charles Lawrence of East St. Louis, governor, and Albert J. Bach of Belleville, secretary.

The new forum officers were presented at a luncheon in November at the governor's mansion in Springfield.

The Senior Legislative Forum is an eight-year effort by the lieutenant governor's office designed to advise him on issues pertinent to senior citizens.

It is an advisory body comprised of several hundred senior citizen organizations in the 13 regions of the state's Association of Area Agencies on Aging.

Ryan reorganized the forum this fall with the appointment of new regional governors, vice-governors and secretaries. As officers within the 13 regions, the 39 individuals automatically serve on the Forum's statewide executive committee.

Input from each region will promote legislative and administrative changes on behalf of senior citizens throughout the state. The executive committee will meet quarterly to provide direction for the Forum's activities.

SENIOR FORUM OFFICER Vernice Walter, right, of Granite City with Illinois Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan, Ryan named Mrs. Walter to the Senior Legislative Forum at a luncheon in the governor's mansion in Springfield. Other new appointees also attended.

Answers Social Security questions

Your letters to me ask a lot of questions about Social Security and Medicare. Here are some typical queries:

Q. I have returned to the United States after living in Australia for 15 years. There I had medical coverage through the national system and I did collect Social Security from the United States.

Now, on my return, I find that for medical coverage I can get only part A of Medicare but not part B. Why? What can I do about it?

A. Senior citizens living outside the United States cannot be covered by Medicare, so in electing to live in another country, you have "opted out" of the initial offer of coverage by the Social Security Administration.

You can secure coverage under part A, but for part B you must wait for the open enrollment period — during January, February and March of each year. Those qualifying for the program at that time will have their part B coverage in effect starting the following July 1.

This same condition applies to people who work past age 65 and do not elect to take Medicare coverage, preferring to remain with a company insurance program. On eventual retirement the senior citizen can qualify immediately for part A coverage but must wait until the open enrollment period for part B.

In research with the Social Security Administration we find that there are some exceptions to this almost every rule or regulation, so if you have a question, phone or write the nearest Social Security office.

Q. I am getting the runaround from my local Social Security office. They have left me waiting in the outer office for hours at a time, and the people who insist the answers must come from him just won't give me any answers. What can I do?

A. We have forwarded your letter to our key contact within the

Mainly for Seniors

Social Security Administration, requesting that there be an independent investigation of the complaint. There are "bad apples" in any system or operation, and the Social Security Administration, particularly in the past, has had more than its share. In recent years we have been impressed with the positive reorientation to service and responsiveness in many of the offices.

If your claim is correct, you may expect to see some corrective action. If there is a problem in communicating to achieve an answer or resolution, that, too, can be corrected.

The Social Security Administration is a service department, and should be responsive to serious and reasonable questions. But, if you are unable to get what you believe to be reasonable answers, send a letter, "personally to the attention of" the local office director. State your concern, recite any instances of problems, and ask for a response by his or her office or the assignment of another staff member to work with you.

If that fails, document your complaint and ask for action, write your congressional representative. Most congressional offices have at least one staff member who presides liaison with the Social Security Administration.

Q. With the cutbacks in Medicare coverage, we are concerned that we may not be adequately covered by insurance.

A. We have a Medicare Supplement insurance policy and a cancer policy. Is this what we should have — or what should we do?

A. We took this question to a nationally recognized expert on Medicare and Medicare Supplement insurance. Here are his general recommendations:

1. Read up on Medicare and its current provisions so that you know what it covers — at least in general terms.

2. Buy the best Medicare Supplement insurance program you can find or afford, to provide the greatest amount of coverage as a true supplement to Medicare.

3. With the combination of the two coverages, specific policies, such as for cancer or heart disease, become redundant, unnecessary and, perhaps, very costly for the quality of eventual return if you happen to get that specific disease.

Write your state insurance commission and ask for any brochure or pamphlet the department may have produced regarding Medicare Supplement insurance. Ask if there are policy comparability standards (specified forms for listing benefits so that policies can be compared easily), and ask for a list of companies authorized to issue Medicare Supplement policies in your state.

Then, shop for the right coverage. Don't buy the first policy presented. Listen to three, four or more presentations before you make up your own mind. And make your decision based on the coverage of the policy, considered in view of what Medicare will not cover, and in view of your own anticipated health care needs.

If you have a question you'd like answered, please write Mainly for Seniors, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Soccer

3 Warriors on All-Area Team

Three Granite City players were named to the Junior's All-Area Soccer Team for 1985 as selected by area coaches.

The Warrior players selected reflected Granite City's defensive strength during the year, in which the Warriors went 16-4-4, losing to Alton (Marquette) in the regional finals. Goalkeeper Terry Dutko and back Scott Blason were named to the first team, while Joe Gray, another back, was named to the second team.

FIRST TEAM

TERRY DUTKO, GRANITE CITY: The senior had 13 shutouts and was named all-state and all-sectional in addition to being named to the all-tournament team at the Granite City Tournament of Champions.

"I've been fortunate to coach many fine goalkeepers and I feel Terry has the potential to be the best of them all," said Granite City head coach Gene Baker. "He has great quickness and good technique."

SCOTT BLASON, GRANITE CITY: The leading vote-getter on the all-area team, Blason had eight goals and two assists. He was voted to the Illinois High School Soccer Coaches Association all-state team.

"He's a fundamentally sound, very heady player who understands the game," said Warriors' head coach Gene Baker.

JASON SMITH, COLLINSVILLE: The junior striker was the Warriors' leading scorer with 16 goals and eight assists.

"His biggest contribution included game-winning goals against Rosary and McCluer North, two of the strongest teams we played," said Collinsville head coach Jim Stranz. "He had two critical assists in the state tournament, one of them in the championship game. He created a lot of opportunities for assists by moving around the field."

ALL-AREA SAVE. Terry Dutko, one of three Granite City players on the All-Area Soccer Team, dives to make a save.

CHRIS THOMPSON, COLLINSVILLE: The senior sweeper back scored three goals this season and six in his career, most of them coming off re-starts. He made the all-tournament team at state, was an alternate for the Illinois under-17 select team and played for the Southern region in the Prairie State Games.

"He was the trigger man on the re-start," said Collinsville head coach Jim Stranz. "When the situation was critical, we'd move Chris up to sweeper back. I thought the mud might cause problems in the state tournament final, but Chris was able to clear the ball out of the mud."

TOM FAYOLLAT, EDWARDSVILLE: The junior had 28 goals and seven assists. He also played for the Collinsville Rowdies under-16 team, which went to the state final.

"His big strengths are his speed and unselfishness," said Edwardsville head coach Fran Dwyer. "He's an extremely hard worker, an excellent shooter with the left or right foot and an excellent hitter."

TOM ROCHE, BELLEVILLE WEST: Roche had one goal and one assist as a stopper/midfielder. "He came into his own at the end of last season," said West head coach Bill Houck. "We knew he'd be one of the individuals we'd look to for leadership. He was the heart of the team."

GC Bubblemasters 'Club of the Year'

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

"Club of the Year" honors granted by the Midwest Diving Council for accomplishments in 1985 belong to the Bubblemasters Scuba Club of Granite City. It was announced at the local divers' 26th annual awards banquet.

More than 60 Bubblemaster members and guests celebrated the council's "outstanding club" award and presented individual achievement trophies and plaques to area divers during the 1985 awards dinner party at Chef's Restaurant.

Pete Fourcault also was elected Bubblemasters president for 1986, succeeding Bill Schaefer who held the office for two terms.

The local club's most prestigious award, "Diver of the Year," was presented to Ed Duffin.

Duffin and Mary Jane Brannan also received 25-year membership awards. The Bubblemasters observed the 25th anniversary of the club's formation in 1960.

Several local divers attended the Midwest Diving Council's annual convention in Kansas City in late October when "Club of the Year" honors were first announced.

The council consists of accredited diving clubs in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, who honored the local group for achievement in several areas, including its first-rated showing in competitive skin and scuba diving events and underwater hockey skills.

Underwater hockey for divers was organized by the Bubblemasters eight years ago, as a method of enabling divers to stay in shape during the winter months.

The concept mushroomed, however, expanding to competition with some established St. Louis area YMCA teams and newer squads.

The sport was recognized as an official Midwest Diving Council event two years ago, according to Paula Weiss, club membership and public relations chairman.

Since its debut in competition, the Bubblemasters underwater hockey squad has dominated most interstate matches played against council teams from the St. Louis and Kansas City areas.

For several years, local divers played at the Edwardsville YMCA pool, but last year changed their home matches and practice sessions to the Lewis and Clark Community College pool in Godfrey.

The new hockey season is about to begin, Weiss said.

For individual accomplishment at the council level, Phil Lamm of the Granite City club took "Scuba Spearfisherman of the Year."

Barb Gates won first place in underwater hockey (women's division), while Tim Murphy and Darrin Duffin were named first and second place winners, respectively, underwater hockey (men's division).

"Club of the Year" honors went to the Granite City area diving group in 1980, Weiss said.

Trophies and plaques awarded at the Bubblemasters' banquet for achievements by local divers went to:

Phil Lamm, who received "Spearfisherman of the Year in Scuba," plus trophies for largest and most fish speared in competition; and Tom Mueller, "Spearfisherman of the Year in Skin Diving."

Plaques were presented to retiring president, Bill Schaefer; Sue Schaefer, secretary; Alan Young, treasurer; Tim Murphy, air master; Jeff Mueller, dive master; Ron Yates, Vegas Night chairman; Rita Young, entertainment committee; Lamm, real estate committee; and newsletter; and Fourcault, retiring vice president.

Warriors, Devils post first cage wins

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A complete wrapup of local high school basketball will appear in Wednesday's Granite City Journal.)

Two local basketball teams were winners Friday night in high school basketball games.

At Mt. Vernon, Granite City bombed the host Rams 96-66 in the annual Turkey Classic. The Warriors built a 24-16 first quarter lead and never looked back.

Tom Taylor poured in 21 points to pace Granite City. Chris Viezer added 14 points. The brother duo of Tim and Jamie Hogan combined for 31 points and senior Joe Gray added 16 for Granite City.

The victory was the Warriors' first of the season. Granite City was to play two more games in the round-robin tournament on Saturday.

In Venice, the Red Devils won their home opener over Lebanon 71-67. Ed Ware led Venice with 21 points. Jesse Hall added 16 points.

Steve Schleppe paced Lebanon with 21 points, mostly from long range.

Venice is now 1-0, while Lebanon falls to 0-2.

At Pinckneyville, Madison dropped a 66-60 decision to the Panthers. Madison was led offensively by Anthony Valentine with 19 points. Darnell Marshall scored 12 points.

Reggie Young added 11 points and 10 rebounds. Eric Jacks chipped in with 10. Chandler Terrell had five assists for the Trojans (0-1).

For the Panthers, Jason Carson, bound for the University of Alabama-Birmingham next year, scored 20 points.

Pinckneyville has now beaten Madison four of the last five times the two schools have met.

In junior college basketball, Granite City Campus beat Glen Oaks Community College 70-66 in the first round of the Forest Park Thanksgiving Tournament.

For the Stars, Kirk Robinson scored 19 points. Jeff Gray of Granite City added 16 while Al Johnson and Dana Christel each chipped in with 10 points.

2 GC players honored at Sauk

Two former Granite City soccer players were among three players on the 1985 Region IV National Junior College Athletic Association First Team from Sauk Valley College.

Allen Zentgraf, goalkeeper for the Redmen, was chosen as the top goalkeeper for the region. He had eight shutout victories in helping Sauk finish with a record of 11-4-4.

Zentgraf is a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School and played for Gene Baker's Warriors.

Lee Gavlick, a 1982 graduate of Granite City North High School, was voted the Region IV Sweeper Back of the Year and was rated as the No. 2 player for the entire region. He is an All-American nominee for this year.

A sophomore, Gavlick was a co-captain for the Redmen. Coach Al Hardersen said Lee is being heavily recruited and will be able to pick the school of his choice for the next two years. Gavlick played under Bob Kehoe at Granite City North. Jeff Fish, a 1985 graduate of Mascoutah High School, was also selected to the team as a stopper back. Fish marked the top goal scorer of Sauk's opponents during the year and earned the respect of opposing coaches.

ALTHOFF: The senior played everywhere but goalkeeper as he had 11 goals and three assists. "Not only is he a dedicated and very dependable player, he's also a team leader," said Crusaders' head coach Larry Mank. "He could have easily had more goals and assists, but he spent the majority of his time as a back and some at midfield."

C.J. EASTON, BELLEVILLE EAST: Easton, a senior, and Edwardsville's Tom Fayallat are the only players to earn first-team Journal all-area honors for the second year in a row. Easton had six goals and seven assists.

ROB NABB, BELLEVILLE EAST: A senior, Nabb had 10 goals and 11 assists. He was one of the keys to the Lancers' "controlled passing" style.

GARY BIDWELL, BELLEVILLE EAST: The Lancers' third all-area player had 11 goals and six assists. "Gary works hard and pushes himself," said teammate C.J. Easton. "When you see him work hard, you feel you have to work hard, too."

MATT MUELLER, CAHOKIA: Bob Bresnahan, Cahokia's head coach, describes Mueller as a "hard worker, very dedicated, very intelligent" with the potential of being a Division I college player.

"He's just been a very steady influence on us the last four years," Bresnahan said.

Mueller's strongest position is wing fullback, but he has played as a forward. A four-year starter and a two-year co-captain, he had more than 40 career goals.

SECOND TEAM
BOB RANGE, COLLINSVILLE: Range sat out the first half of the season as he was the Kahoks' backup goalkeeper, but was switched to forward and responded with eight goals and four assists.

MARK AHLVERS, COLLINSVILLE: Ahlvers had seven shutouts, including a 1-0 win over Glenbrook North in the state sem-finals.

JOHN SUESS, TRIAD: The senior was one of the area's premier offensive players with 29 goals and 18 assists.

ROB KOWOLSKI, TRIAD: A junior, Kowolski had 17 goals and 18 assists, many of them on goals by teammate John Sues.

GREG EILERMAN, ST. PAUL: The senior forward/fullback had 26 goals — boosting his career total to 42 — and 10 assists. St. Paul registered four shutouts in the games he played at fullback. Eilerman earned first-team all-conference honors and was co-MVP on his team.

DAVE BOECKMANN, O'FALLON: A senior All-Mississippi Valley Conference selection as a striker, Boeckmann had eight goals and nine assists in the 1985 season. He was a two-year starter and three-year letterman and contributed a goal or an assist in 13 of 18 Panthers' games this season.

"A versatile player, Dave controlled our offense from the inside and outside striker positions," said head coach Art Voellinger. "He tied for the team high in total points (11) and assists (9)."

TIM KEILBACH, O'FALLON: Keilbach, a senior, was a two-year starter and three-year letterman at fullback. He scored one goal, had one assist and was the stopper on a defense that allowed just 11 goals, a school record. Keilbach was also an all-conference selection.

"Tim rates as one of the best fullbacks ever to play at O'Fallon," said Voellinger. "He had a nose for the ball and seldom was caught out of position."

SHAWN "IRISH" MOORE, O'FALLON: Also an all-conference selection, the senior goalie was a two-year starter and three-year letterman. He set an O'Fallon school record by allowing just 11 points in 18 games. He recorded nine shutouts this season and six in 1984. O'Fallon's record over the last two seasons with Moore in goal was 28-7-3.

"At 6-4½ and 180 pounds, Shawn had great range and delivered the ball offensively as well as any goalie in nine years of the O'Fallon varsity program," Voellinger said. "A great leader, he had 13 saves in a 2-1 overtime victory over Althoff."

PAT PHILLIPS, CAHOKIA: A senior co-captain, Phillips played sweeper fullback for the Comanches. He was playing halfback, but was switched to defense to help shore up the defensive ranks.

JOE GRAY, GRANITE CITY: A two-year letterman and team co-captain, Gray helped anchor one of the area's best defenses. He was named to the all-sectional team.

MIKE RAMI, EDWARDSVILLE: A co-captain for the Tigers, Rami had eight goals and five assists.

MIKE SMITH, EDWARDSVILLE: Smith had 10 goals and five assists.
